

Addiction Recovery

Recovery is possible, and help is free and confidential. Whether it's alcohol, opioids, or other substances — for you or someone you love — below are trusted national starting points to find treatment and support.

⚠ BEFORE YOU START

If someone has overdosed or is in danger, call 911. For finding treatment, the SAMHSA helpline below is free, confidential, and open 24/7. Medicaid and most insurance cover addiction treatment.

1 Get Help Finding Treatment

Free, confidential help to find treatment that fits your situation and budget.

☐ SAMHSA National Helpline

24/7 free, confidential treatment referral and information in English and Spanish.

→ www.samhsa.gov/find-help/national-helpline 1-800-662-HELP (4357)

☐ FindTreatment.gov

Search a national directory of treatment programs, including low-cost and sliding-scale options.

→ www.findtreatment.gov

2 Free Recovery Support Groups

Peer groups offer free, ongoing support — in person and online, nationwide.

☐ Alcoholics Anonymous (AA)

Free meetings worldwide for anyone who wants to stop drinking. Find local and online meetings.

→ www.aa.org

☐ Narcotics Anonymous (NA)

Free peer support meetings for recovery from drug addiction.

→ www.na.org

☐ SMART Recovery

Free, science-based recovery meetings and tools, in person and online.

→ www.smartrecovery.org

3 Prevent Overdose & Support Families

Free naloxone (overdose reversal) and support for families affected by addiction.

☐ Find Free Naloxone (Narcan)

Naloxone reverses opioid overdoses and is free or low-cost in many states. Learn how to get it.

→ nextdistro.org

☐ Al-Anon — For Families

Free support groups for families and friends of people with a drinking problem.

→ al-anon.org

☐ SAMHSA — Find Support

Plain guidance for taking the first steps, for you or a loved one.

→ www.findsupport.gov

⚠ WATCH OUT FOR

Be wary of for-profit “rehab” centers that pressure you, promise guaranteed cures, or charge huge upfront fees. Start with the free SAMHSA helpline, which gives unbiased referrals.

★ A TIP THAT HELPS

You don’t have to wait until you “hit bottom.” Calling the helpline costs nothing and they won’t pressure you — they simply help you understand your options when you’re ready.

NEED HELP WHERE YOU LIVE?

Need ongoing local support?

This guide covers national starting points. For treatment centers, recovery meetings, and support near you, use the personalized AI search or ask in the Questions area, and we’ll help you find the closest options.

MY NOTES — WHO I CALLED, WHEN, AND WHAT THEY SAID
