

Help With Specific Legal Needs

Different legal problems have different free resources. Whether it's family, housing, immigration, or clearing a record, below is where to start. Tick the box once you've found the right one for you.

⚠ BEFORE YOU START

Free, specialized help exists for most common legal issues. Start with legal aid (see the Free Legal Help guide), then use the targeted resources below. Beware non-lawyers charging high fees, especially for immigration.

1 Family & Housing

The most common civil legal needs.

☐ Family Law (Custody, Divorce, Support)

Legal aid and court self-help centers assist with custody, divorce, and child support.

→ www.lawhelp.org

☐ Housing & Eviction

Free tenant legal help for eviction and housing problems. See the Rent & Eviction guide.

→ www.lsc.gov/about-lsc/what-legal-aid/get-legal-help

2 Immigration

Find trustworthy, low-cost immigration help — and avoid scams.

☐ Find Accredited Immigration Help

Use the official list of low-cost, recognized immigration legal providers — not “notarios.”

→ www.justice.gov/eoir/list-pro-bono-legal-service-providers

☐ Immigration Legal Resource Finder

Find nonprofit immigration legal aid near you.

→ www.immigrationadvocates.org/nonprofit/legaldirectory

3 Clear Your Record

A past record can often be sealed or expunged.

☐ Expungement & Record Sealing

Many people can clear old records to help with jobs and housing. Legal aid and court self-help can guide you.

→ www.lawhelp.org

4 Seniors, Disability & Veterans

Specialized legal help for specific communities.

☐ Legal Help for Seniors

Free legal help for older adults through the Eldercare Locator.

→ eldercare.acl.gov 1-800-677-1110

☐ Veterans Legal Help

Many legal aid groups have programs for veterans' benefits and discharge upgrades.

→ www.va.gov/ogc/legalservices.asp

⚠ WATCH OUT FOR

For immigration, never use a "notario" or non-lawyer who promises guaranteed results — it can ruin your case. Use only accredited representatives or licensed immigration attorneys from the official lists above.

★ A TIP THAT HELPS

Match your problem to the right specialist — a family-law clinic, housing attorney, or immigration nonprofit will help far more than a general office. Legal aid can refer you to the right one for free.
